

A stylized illustration of two hands, one pointing and one clenched in a fist, set against a red background. The hands are drawn with thick black outlines and white fill. The hand on the left is pointing towards the right, while the hand on the right is clenched into a fist. The background is a solid red color with some white brushstroke-like textures.

Ni golpes que duelan,

ni palabras que hieran.